

My new book: EASY FELT

Contributed by Birgitte Krag Hansen
Friday, 10 April 2009

My new book NEM FILT (Easy Felt) was published in Danish November 2008 and was ment to be published in English this spring, but because of problems finding a professional translator it has been delayed.

Now the publisher has found a translator and the book is about being translated.

Here in Denmark it has got very good rewievs. It is beeing used in schools and in after school centers and familys find it good to sit together and work with it. To my surprise I also see my students using it and working very creative with the ideas in it.